

bridal fashion, colour and style inspiration with mori lee and joy of colour

Date: 20 October 2005

Time: 6:30pm

Location: 80, Tottenham Court Road, London W1

To Register: Simply book your place now for 6.30pm

Mori Lee, one of the leading names in bridal fashion, and Joy of Colour, the colour and style consultancy, are joining together for this special event to offer an exclusive opportunity to view the fantastic new 2006 bridal and bridesmaids collection and to gain advice to help accentuate your best features and to give you guidance about what colours and textures flatter you and how you can integrate them into your wedding dress and all your wedding activities. Mori Lee will preview 2006's breathtaking and original designs created by designer Madeline Gardner.

'You can't start early enough choosing your personal white. It is the first decision you need to take before taking any further towards planning your wedding.'

'The One' is different for every bride and by looking at aspects such as colouring and body shape as well personality, life style and budget. Joy Of Colour are able to advise you on how to achieve to choose the wedding dress you really want including advice on accessories, necklines and hairstyle.

This event is FREE. Simply RSVP

How to find us:

The closest underground stations are either Godge Street (northern line) or Warren Street (northern line & victoria line).

If you are travelling from a mainline station, then Warren Street is only:

- 1 stop from Euston mainline station,
- 2 stops from Kings Cross mainline station,
- 3 stops from Victoria mainline station
- and 6 stops from Waterloo mainline station

So wherever you're located we are easily accessible.